

Making College Affordable: Adventures in Scholar-Activism

Monday, February 13, 2017

2:00 - 3:30 pm

W113 Seashore Hall

Sara Goldrick-Rab

Professor of Higher Education,
Policy, Organizational & Leadership Studies
Temple University

In this talk, sociologist Sara Goldrick-Rab will discuss scholar-activism, a form of public sociology. She will draw on her experiences as a scholar-activist work on the sociology of higher education and in particular on studying ways to make college more affordable. Topics will include: using scholar-activism to address social inequality, scholar-activism and professional standards, and scholar-activism in the age of Trump.

This talk is part of the Inequality Seminar which is a seminar and speaker series that provides a forum on campus for faculty and graduate students who are interested in inequality broadly defined. It is an opportunity for faculty and graduate students to present their research and to hear about other inequality-related work from researchers on the off-campus. These talks are free and open to the public. For more information about the Inequality Seminar, contact Professor Sarah Bruch at sarah-bruch@uiowa.edu.

Individuals with disabilities are encouraged to attend all University of Iowa-sponsored events. If you are a person with a disability who requires an accommodation, in order to participate in this program, please contact the Department of Sociology in advance at 335-2502.